President Report

VICKI LAFAY

PT, DPT, PhD

PRESIDENT

2025 Activities:

Governance, Leadership, and Board Effectiveness (Goal 4: Lead)

During 2025, the Executive Committee (EC) advanced a series of governance and leadership refinements to strengthen continuity, role clarity, and operational effectiveness. A formal Board self-evaluation was conducted, with findings synthesized and translated into targeted improvement actions addressing onboarding processes, agenda structure, Board recruitment practices, and representation. These actions informed subsequent refinements to meeting flow and leadership onboarding implemented later in the year.

Updates to the Academy organizational chart were reviewed and approved to more clearly delineate elected and appointed roles, improve transparency for members, and ensure alignment between governance structure and active programs and committees. These clarifications supported more consistent appointment and reappointment processes across leadership roles, including standing committee memberships and editorial leadership positions.

Leadership succession and continuity were strengthened through EC-led review of officer sequencing, refinement of nomination timelines, and mentoring of prospective leaders. This work aligned with parallel efforts by the Nominating Committee to expand recruitment strategies, increase visibility at ELC, and provide structured onboarding for SIG-level nominating committees. Appointments and reappointments were finalized for key leadership roles, including House of Delegates chief and alternate delegates, PTA Council liaison, Federal Affairs liaison, JoPTE Editor-in-Chief and Associate Editors, Fellowship in Higher Education Leadership (FHEL) Program Director, and standing committee memberships. Policy updates related to travel reimbursement, per diem alignment with GSA standards, and fiscal oversight were reviewed and implemented to support consistency, equity, and responsible stewardship.

Strategic Direction and Plan Execution (Goals 2: Connect; 4: Lead)

Strategic alignment and disciplined execution were emphasized throughout the year. Structured strategic plan reflection (end of first year) and planning sessions were incorporated into July and October Board meetings, including review of progress toward existing priorities and discussion of emerging risks and opportunities affecting physical therapy education. These sessions directly informed refinement of strategic objectives related to leadership development pathways, scholarly engagement infrastructure, and member connectivity.

In October 2025, the Board approved finalized strategic plan objectives for implementation beginning in 2026. Following approval, strategic objectives were translated into actionable priorities across committee charges, SIG work plans, and budget decisions. For example, scholarly engagement priorities were reflected in continued investment in Education Impact Initiatives (EI²), clarification of research priorities through the Research Committee and SOE SIG collaboration, and strengthened infrastructure around the Journal of Physical Therapy Education.

Executive Committee Oversight and Transition Planning (Goals 2: Connect; 4: Lead)

In the latter half of 2025, the EC activity focused on implementation and transition planning. This included finalization of award recommendations, preparation for 2026 nomination cycles, confirmation of Education Leadership Conference (ELC) leadership appointments and planning timelines, and oversight of JoPTE associate editor memoranda of understanding.

Budget preparation for 2026 initiatives—including Education Impact Initiatives (EI²), FHEL, and professional development programming—was conducted with attention to sustainability and alignment with strategic priorities. This approach mirrored broader EC efforts to balance innovation with fiscal responsibility across conferences, grants, and leadership programs.

Professional Representation and External Leadership (Goals 1: Advance; 4: Lead)

Academy leadership maintained active engagement in national professional governance and policy dialogue. In 2025, the Academy represented in the APTA House of Delegates, supporting coordinated communication, preparation, and representation of Academy perspectives within the broader APTA governance structure. This work aligned with ongoing collaboration between Academy and ACAPT leadership, section delegates, and APTA staff to ensure educator perspectives were consistently represented.

Ongoing monitoring of national issues affecting physical therapy education—including accreditation developments, professional designation discussions, and educational financing considerations—was incorporated into EC discussions to support informed decision-making and member awareness through leadership forums and conference programming.

Professional Development and Programmatic Stewardship (Goals 1: Advance; 2: Connect; 4: Lead)

The EC provided strategic oversight for the Academy's professional development portfolio, supporting Education Leadership Conference and AoE CSM planning, pre-conference programming, and partnerships with ACAPT. In 2025, the updated memorandum of understanding with ACAPT was refined, finalized, and executed, strengthening shared governance, planning processes, and financial sustainability for ELC. These refinements supported continued growth, as reflected in increased attendance, submission volume, and peer review participation at ELC 2025. Decisions related to registration pricing and pre-conference viability were grounded in financial analysis and long-term sustainability considerations.

A major area of EC focus was the continued development and launch planning for the Excellence in Education Certificate (EEC). Following leadership transitions, the Board approved engagement of external consultation to review and strengthen program processes, including defined scope of work, contract duration, and budget parameters.

This work stabilized program infrastructure and positioned the EEC for a planned launch in 2026 with clearer quality assurance, peer review, and operational supports.

Scholarship, Research, and Knowledge Advancement (Goal 3: Elevate)

At the Board level, continued investment in scholarship and research was affirmed through approval of funding allocations, as well as for member engagement. These investments supported initiatives such as research consulting sessions, educational research workshops, and cross-SIG collaboration. The Education Impact Initiatives (EI²), trendously impactful in 2025, were approved to continue in 2026.

For the Journal of Physical Therapy Education, Board actions included approval of associate editor appointments, establishment of associate editor compensation aligned with peer journals, onboarding of an editorial fellow, and clarification of editorial leadership roles through updated memoranda of understanding. These actions supported increased submission volume, improved efficiency, and sustainability of the Academy's flagship scholarly publication.

Engagement and Belonging (Goals 3: Elevate; 4: Lead)

With Board approval, the Academy engaged Tenenbaum Law Group to conduct an external review of Academy policies, programs, and scholarship processes through an engagement and belonging lens. The President worked with the Executive Committee to define the scope of this engagement, ensuring attention to governance documents, committee practices, funding mechanisms, and member-facing programs.

In parallel, the President and prior President supported refinement of the Engagement and Belonging committee charges, scholarship criteria, and educational programming, while intentionally integrating these considerations into strategic planning discussions and Education Leadership Conference programming. This work complemented parallel efforts by the Engagement and Belonging Committee to support dialogue, responsiveness, and sustainability amid a complex external environment.

Collaboration and External Engagement (Goal 2: Connect)

The Academy strengthened internal and external connectivity through external collaborations and relationships with APTA, ACAPT, AAPT, PTLI, and other partners. This included active engagement in the APTA Collaborative for PT Education, with EC-approved appointment of Academy representatives across multiple focus areas to contribute to national dialogue, shared resources, and coordinated advancement of physical therapy education. The EC worked to ensure these appointments aligned with Academy expertise and strategic priorities, and that feedback from the Collaborative informed internal planning and decision-making. Additional engagement included participation in national conversations related to competency-based education, accreditation, and educational policy, as well as coordination with APTA committees on shared priorities. Internally, the President supported exploration of new engagement models for academic leaders and senior educators, including conceptual planning for communities and programming that address the needs of department chairs, program directors, and senior administrators. These efforts aligned with strategic priorities related to member engagement, leadership development, and professional identity.

Digital Engagement and Leadership Communities (Goals 2: Connect; 4: Lead)

The Academy successfully launched EduSphere, establishing a centralized, modern platform to enhance communication, knowledge exchange, and member connectivity across committees, SIGs, and leadership groups. Early adoption demonstrated strong engagement and validated EduSphere as a foundational infrastructure to support collaboration, dissemination of resources, and timely dialogue among members. In parallel, the President and Executive Committee initiated early planning for a Higher Education Leaders community, responding to identified member needs among program directors, department chairs, and senior academic leaders. Preliminary work focused on defining purpose, scope, and alignment with the Academy's strategic goals, with future plans to formalize structure and engagement opportunities that support leadership development, peer connection, and shared problem-solving in higher education.
