COVID-19 Updates

As state and federal guidelines are updated in regards to the COVID-19 pandemic, the Academy of Pelvic Health Physical Therapy (APTA Pelvic Health) has received requests from members for guidance in re-opening their practices. APHPT encourages members to follow current CDC guidelines, in addition to any institutional and/or state policies that may be in effect. Also, we are sharing recent ACOG updates that include not only the CDC guidelines but also information specific to that population.

The American Physical Therapy Association (APTA) has also been coordinating COVID-19 resources between components, and on May 6, 2020 in the PT in Motion News published "Don't Miss COVID-19 Resources, Recommendations from APTA Components".

Several items of interest in the article include a webinar from the Private Practice Section - "Managing Your Practice Through the Pandemic-Next Steps" and "OSHA Guidance on Preparing Workplaces for COVID-19"- a guidance document on PPE from the Home Health Section.

The Private Practice Section also has information available in their "members only" section.

I hope this information is helpful. Stay safe and keep in touch during this stressful time.
