FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

BankIn Minnesota Names Rich Jones as President and CEO

Experienced community bank leader takes the helm October 14

Bloomington, Minn., Oct. 14, 2025 – BankIn Minnesota has named Rich Jones as its next President and CEO, effective October 14. Jones brings nearly two decades of experience in community banking, including senior leadership and commercial lending, as well as a deep understanding of the vital role community banks play in Minnesota's local economies.

Rich Jones

Jones most recently served as President and CEO of Randall State Bank, where he lead a dedicated team focused on meeting the financial needs of customers and strengthening the communities they serve. A native of the Brainerd Lakes Area, he has served on the BankIn Minnesota Board of Directors for five years, most recently as Vice Chair, and currently represents Minnesota as a federal delegate for ICBA for the northern half of Minnesota, providing him with valuable national industry leadership experience.

"Rich is a proven leader with a strong grasp of both the operational and relationship sides of community banking," said Greg Raymo, Chair of BankIn Minnesota's Board of Directors. "He understands what it takes for community banks to thrive in today's environment, and he shares BankIn's commitment to helping them do just that."

Jones succeeds Jim Amundson, who led the association from 2016 to 2025 and guided it through a period of growth, advocacy success, and brand transformation. During the leadership transition, Raymo has served as interim president and CEO.

Having been deeply involved with BankIn as a member and board leader, Jones says he's eager to get started.

"I'm excited to hit the ground running," Jones said. "I've seen firsthand the strength, creativity, and commitment Minnesota's community bankers bring to their work every day. I'm looking forward to building on that momentum, working alongside our members to expand our impact, strengthen our voice, and ensure community banking continues to thrive across the state."

With Jones' appointment, Mike Bresnahan, President & CEO of First National Bank Minnesota, will advance to Vice Chair of the BankIn Minnesota Board of Directors, and Randy Dorn, President of My Kind of Bank – First National Bank, will move into the Chair succession as Treasurer.
