BEN PAGE JOINS COLONY BANK AS COMMERCIAL BANKER

COLUMBUS, GA. (October 20, 2025) – Colony Bank is pleased to announce that Ben Page has joined as a Commercial Banker in its Columbus market, located at 1581 Bradley Park Drive.

Page brings a unique background to banking, having spent the past decade in data and analytics roles within the technology industry, most recently with Flock Safety. His experience in building relationships, understanding complex business challenges, and finding strategic solutions will serve him well in his new role. A Columbus native and graduate of Brookstone School, Page returned home in 2024 with his wife and son. He is a graduate of Davidson College, where he earned his degree in Economics.

Commenting on the announcement, D Copeland, President of Colony Bank, said, “Having known Ben for his entire life, I’m proud to see him bring his talents to Colony Bank. He has a sharp mind for business and a genuine care for people. With both Ben and Mitch Watkins recently joining our already strong Columbus team, we’re expanding our capabilities to serve local businesses and support the continued progress of our community.”

Mike Welch, Columbus Market President, added, “Ben’s deep roots in this community make his addition especially exciting. He understands Columbus and its people. His passion for serving local businesses and investing in our community aligns perfectly with Colony’s commitment to relationship banking.”

Along with the additions of Ben Page and Mitch Watkins, Colony Bank has also welcomed Gray Voltz and Reid Calhoun to the Banker Development Program. The addition of these emerging bankers reflects Colony’s ongoing investment in cultivating future banking talent in our local community.
