Executive Management

Aaron Boigon is the Executive Vice President and Chief Information Officer at Plumas Bank, a role he has held since April 2018. With over 25 years of experience in technology and business management, Boigon leads the bank's technology operations and project management initiatives. His responsibilities include identifying and deploying technologies to enhance client digital experiences, improving operational efficiency, and establishing cybersecurity and threat protection strategies.

Boigon joined Plumas Bank in 2013. Prior to his tenure at Plumas, he spent a decade as a managing partner of a leading IT services firm in Northern Nevada and five years in Silicon Valley working various roles in IT and data intelligence.

He holds an undergraduate degree from the University of Washington, is a graduate of the Graduate School of Banking at Colorado, and an MBA candidate. He is a delighted father and also pursues interests in creative writing, stand-up comedy, linguistics, philology, philosophy, and history.
