

Demonstrating Regulatory Effectiveness: Using Data to Support Proactive Regulation

Regulators are under growing pressure to demonstrate not only what they do, but the impact of their work. As expectations for accountability, transparency, and measurable outcomes continue to increase, agencies are being asked to show how their regulatory activities contribute to public protection and where opportunities exist to improve. While many organizations collect significant amounts of information, transforming that data into meaningful insights that support proactive decision-making and provide compelling evidence of effectiveness remains an ongoing challenge.

CLEAR's 2027 Winter Symposium will explore how regulators can use data more strategically to strengthen regulatory effectiveness and communicate the value of their work. Through presentations, case studies, and interactive discussion, participants will examine practical approaches for identifying meaningful measures, interpreting data and emerging risks, supporting proactive regulation, and using data to tell the story of regulatory impact. Attendees will leave with ideas and strategies they can apply within their own organizations to make better-informed decisions and more clearly demonstrate the value of regulation.

Program Agenda

- | | |
|-------------|---|
| 9:00-9:15 | Welcome Remarks |
| 9:15-10:15 | Opening Keynote: Data 101 for Regulators: Asking the Right Questions |
| 10:15-10:30 | Break |
| 10:30-11:30 | Panel: Data in Action: Using Evidence to Demonstrate Regulatory Effectiveness |
| 11:30-12:00 | Data in Practice: What Would You Do? |
| 12:00-1:00 | Attendee Lunch |
| 1:00-2:00 | Presentation: From Data to Story: Making Regulatory Evidence Matter |
| 2:00-2:30 | Networking Break |
| 2:30-3:30 | Challenges with Data: Collecting, Interpreting, and Communicating Evidence of Regulatory Effectiveness |
| 3:30-4:00 | Roundtable: Sustaining Effectiveness: From Insight to Action |
| 4:00-4:15 | Closing Q&A and Program Synthesis |
| 5:00-6:00 | Symposium Attendee & Committee Member Reception |