2023 CPR International Arbitration Competition

Problem The Wolf of Meta Street²

1. BEGLAM INC. (“BeGlam”)

BEGLAM INC. is a privately held company from Kingaslanding. The company, founded in 2012, is a large tech company with a fast-growth strategy and a close-to-an-amusement-park headquarters. It has been working great so far: the company has reached the status of a decacorn – its market value surpassed the D$³ 10 billion mark.

The company's core business is social media: BeGlam focuses on providing a platform, also called BeGlam, for users to share photos, videos, and recommendations (restaurants, bars, hotels).

BeGlam’s CEO, K. Karmash, is a natural-born leader and a bright young mind in the field of social media. Since K. Karmash became CEO, the company has prolifically boosted its operations, expanding the platform to emerging countries. This geographic expansion of BeGlam’s operations happened just in time, as social media has become a fever in all countries, and everyone has joined the social media movement.

Besides the profitable opportunities such markets can offer, K. Karmash believes social media companies can and should play an essential role assisting regional development in emerging countries. Karmash believes they allow modernization of emerging economies by promoting technological development through local partnerships.

For instance, the BeGlam platform holds an annual event to promote donations from users to NGOs. In 2019, D$ 220 million was raised to aid youngsters with food, water, education, and apprentice jobs in technology. From 2020 onwards, the focus was on assisting public hospitals during the COVID pandemic.

In 2020 the company partnered up with AliSell-a to develop a sales channel add-on through the platform, with the purpose of engaging mostly mid-sized brands in the sale of their products by influencers on e-commerce, aiming to increase the BeGlam platform’s portfolio.

This sales channel add-on, which operates “inside” BeGlam, was named WeSell. WeSell was brainstormed at a friendly dinner between K. Karmash and J. Ma, AliSell-a’s CEO. Later, this idea was formalized by a contract (APPENDIX 1 - BUSINESS PARTNERSHIP AGREEMENT), in which BeGlam was responsible for providing the code of the platform and user data authorized by the users (Kingsland is one of the most rigorous cybersecurity countries), and AliSell-a was responsible for creating the add-on and plugging it into the platform.

2. ALISELL-A CO. (“AliSell-a”)

ALISELL-A CO. is a company from Summerfell focused on bridging sellers and buyers. AliSell-a is run by its CEO, J. Ma, an experienced businessperson, and tireless worker who is very well known in the market for toughness, stability, and determination. AliSell-a’s core business is the design of sales channels within the internet, providing focused (or “targeted”) ads, payment platforms, and delivery options for customers.

AliSell-a was founded in 1999, but its most substantial expansion happened in 2014 when AliSell-a had its IPO. The key idea that made AliSell-a catapult in revenue was to provide channels for a company to sell their products, a B2C (business-to-consumer) transaction without the need to have AliSell-a’s own products. AliSell-a’s flagship business plan consists, in its essence, in being an intermediary to companies and customers: AliSell-a helps the companies ship and receive payment for their products, and also gives customers the support needed if their purchases are faulty.

Using this model, AliSell-a was able to keep expanding its revenue exponentially, considering its business does not require any physical expenses. By remaining a true intermediary, AliSell-a does not have to worry about product stock, unions, or inflation. As this business model grew, AliSell-a saw its profits skyrocket, making its shareholders very happy.

Looking for new opportunities to ascend even higher, the company started to work with social media influencers in 2020. One night, at a brainstorming session, J. Ma, AliSell-a’s CEO had a grand idea: partner up with BeGlam to sell products through the BeGlam platform, enabling these influencers to have a platform in their biggest stage: social media.

AliSell-a had the expertise to bridge sellers and buyers through a platform, and had on its side Amidda, one of the most influential singers in Summerfell.

In a fast negotiation between the two excited parties, which lasted only 2 months, AliSell-a partnered with BeGlam, creating WeSell, a sales channel add-on that was available to all BeGlam users. This, on paper, was a stroke of genius of J. Ma: It expanded AliSell-a organically to all the users of the BeGlam app, only having to give up a small percentage of its sales that occurred on the WeSell app.

The strategy was simple. AliSell-a would continue serving as an intermediary to WeSell customers, handling shipping and payment. WeSell would charge the seller a referral fee of 14% of the sale price of each item sold. Additionally, there would be a shipping tax to ensure profitability. As an “add-on,” sellers could pay to promote their products through ads on the WeSell platform. The referral fee would be split evenly between BeGlam and AliSell-a, the shipping fee would go only to AliSell-a, and any advertising revenue would be paid solely to BeGlam.

Additionally, AliSell-a signed up for the responsibility to act as an intermediary to aid users in paying for the items to sellers and aid sellers in shipping the items to the users. The digital platform was attractive to sellers and buyers in the digital market and in a very short time became a reference in e-commerce.

3. THE DISPUTE

The pilot for WeSell started in Summerfell, a developing country with a vast population that follows BeGlam enthusiastically. As predicted by J. Ma and K. Karmasha, WeSell was a hit. Influencers all over Summerfell started to sell their products (and sponsored products from other brands) on BeGlam.

The partnership was fruitful, and both parties felt that WeSell would be the game changer in online commerce. During 2021, WeSell was already one of the largest online sales platforms through social media in Summerfell, enjoying BeGlam’s size of about 700 thousand commercial profiles and 60 million active users per month.

Sales within BeGlam using WeSell were skyrocketing in Summerfell. K. Karmasha and J. Ma celebrated their first year of partnership with a trip to Mawaii for all senior personnel. The buzz of the business trip only increased the sales platform publicity and reception in Summerfell. Thus, K. Karmasha and J. Ma decided to expand the platform globally.

As a result of the global expansion, sales increased even more. In Q1 of 2022, sales surpassed an astonishing 1.4 billion, which generated more than 100 million in revenue for each company, per the Sales and Revenues chart below (all in Dragon Dollars):

Quarter/Year	Sales	Revenue (from Referral Fee)	Revenue for Each	Change QoQ
Q1 2021	4,500,000.00	630,000.00	315,000.00	-
Q2 2021	29,800,000.00	4,172,000.00	2,086,000.00	562.22%
Q3 2021	123,900,000.00	17,346,000.00	8,673,000.00	315.77%
Q4 2021	485,300,000.00	67,942,000.00	33,971,000.00	291.69%
Q1 2022	1,435,090,000.00	200,912,600.00	100,456,300.00	195.71%

Despite all the growth of WeSell, the BeGlam board was dissatisfied with, in their board's definition, “wasted revenue” that was being passed on to AliSell-a. In their opinion, AliSell-a was receiving D$ 100 million in revenue for adding a mere add-on to their already existing and highly profitable social media app.

At a minimum, there was a brewing feeling among BeGlam executives and leadership that AliSell-a was receiving a more significant share than they should with the WeSell partnership. This information was leaked to the public, with rumors that some unnamed BeGlam executives said “All AliSell-a executive did was go to Stack Overflow⁴, search for a simple copy and paste code and receive more than 100 million in revenue for it in this quarter alone!”. Also, there were rumors about a new BeGlam platform, cast in the same mold as WeSell. Despite the rumors, BeGlam executives declined to comment on the declaration publicly. However, the BeGlam board of directors instructed K. Karmasha to look for a more “cost-effective alternative”.

In the aftermath of the news leak, AliSell-a replied with a public statement refuting the claims, describing the know-how and effort of e-commerce at scale that was put in by their employees to the WeSell partnership. AliSell-a executives concluded that BeGlam was planning to renegotiate the WeSell partnership to lower AliSell-a’s stake in the revenue.

In the midst of all of this, updates at WeSell platform in Q2 2022 through Q4 2022 reflected decreased sales within the platform (all in Dragon Dollars):

Quarter/Year	Sales	Revenue (from Referral Fee)	Revenue for Each	Change QoQ
Q2 2022	1,105,045,000.00	154,706,300.00	77,353,150.00	-23.00%
Q3 2022	1,000,045,000.00	140,006,300.00	70,003,150.00	-9.50%
Q4 2022	700,450,000.00	98,063,000.00	49,031,500.00	-29.69%

BeGlam said the competition has grown, while AliSell-a claims that application updates (which happened in May and October of 2022) on the BeGlam platform making it less user-friendly and minimizing the prominence of WeSell are directly affecting sales on WeSell. AliSell-a sent a notification, warning BeGlam that it was deliberately impairing the WeSell sales by its ill-intended updates on the BeGlam platform.

Complicating matters, all payments from AliSell-a to BeGlam were consistently made at least one week late starting in Q4 2022. AliSell-a’s personnel claimed that this was due to several quarters in which WeSell failed to hit revenue targets resulting in temporary cash-flow issues that would take time to resolve.

A meeting was held at WeSell HQ and a disastrous presentation was made for both companies with the prediction of a challenging 2023 (APPENDIX 3 - WESELL SALES AND 2023 FORECAST). Relations between BeGlam and AliSell-a leadership were at a boiling point, and both companies decided that the negotiations were over. Privately, both knew that the partnership, in the way that it currently exists, would not last.

Exasperated by the lack of a resolution, BeGlam informed AliSell-a that it was terminating the Business Partnership Agreement due to Ali-Sell-a’s repeated late payments in breach of the Agreement. BeGlam migrated to the cost-effective SellPlus, much to the dismay of AliSell-a. K. Karmash, J. Ma, and their attorneys have spoken several times via videoconference to try to find a solution. Despite the initial history of good communications between the companies, BeGlam and AliSell-a reached a point where emails and phone calls were not sufficient to resolve the growing animosity between the parties (APPENDIX 2 - E-MAILS BETWEEN K. KARMASH AND J. MA).

As no settlement could be reached directly by the parties, AliSell-a was advised by its counsel to request arbitration according to the arbitration clause (clause 12) of the contract, which provides the following:

“12.7 Dispute Resolution. Any dispute arising out of or relating to this contract, including the breach, termination or validity thereof, shall be finally resolved by arbitration in accordance with the International Institute for Conflict Prevention and Resolution (“CPR”) Rules for Administered Arbitration of International Disputes by three arbitrators, of whom each party shall designate one, with the third arbitrator to be designated by the two party-appointed arbitrators. Judgment upon the award rendered by the arbitrator(s) may be entered by any court having jurisdiction thereof.

12.8 The seat of the arbitration shall be São Paulo, Brazil, and the language of the arbitration shall be English.”

Thus, AliSell-a commenced arbitration alleging wrongful termination of the Business Partnership Agreement to be conducted in English under the CPR Rules for Administered Arbitration of International Disputes, in Accra, Ghana. The arbitration is scheduled to take place on December 8, 2023.

The parties selected K. Izomba and A.M. Apiano from the CPR Panel of Distinguished Neutrals as their arbitrators, and the two party-appointed arbitrators designated A. Frobeat, also from the CPR Panel of Distinguished Neutrals, as the third arbitrator. All three are well known, have excellent reputations, and possesses superb arbitration skills, as evidenced by their respective track records in resolving multi- party, cross-border international business disputes.

Hey J,

Hope you're doing well. I had a great time last night drinking wine and discussing business ideas. Remember that idea we had about creating an add-on sales channel for BeGlam called WeSell? I've been thinking about it more and I really think it has potential.

What do you think about partnering up and bringing WeSell to life?

Best,

K. Karmash

Hi K,

I'm doing well, thanks for asking. I also had a great time last night and I'm definitely on board with the WeSell idea.

Let's start by outlining the details of our partnership. How do you envision this working?

Best,

J. Ma

Hey J,

I'm glad to hear you're on board with WeSell. Here are my resumed thoughts on the partnership:

- WeSell would be an add-on sales channel for BeGlam users.
- AliSell-a would handle the logistics of the sales (fulfillment, customer service, etc.)
- We would split the profits 50/50

I am sending the supporting documents (business contract - it is the template we use here at BeGlam) in this email.

What do you think?

Best,

Hi K,

I think the partnership outline sounds fair. 50/50 profit split seems reasonable and I'm confident that AliSell-a can handle the logistics of the sales efficiently.

I have one suggestion though - how about we also consider a referral fee for BeGlam users who sign up as sellers on WeSell? This could incentivize more users to join and increase the overall profitability of the partnership.

We can discuss this further - for the moment, AliSell-a is ok with the contract (despite the use of arbitration to resolve any conflict arising from the contract... shouldn't we use wine instead??)

Best,

J. Ma

Hey J,

WeSell is working!!! Thank you for all the effort put into the platform. I heard you had some all nighters with the team for us to launch this christmas.

The platform is looking great, with no major bugs.

Best,

K. Karmash

Hi K,

We have finished this quarter with D$ 4.5 million in revenue. I am sending you some ideas to increase revenues. A for our brainstorming session last friday, how about the idea of targeted ads for users using a data tracking system?

I really feel we have a billion dollar idea!!!

Best,

J. Ma

Hey J,

We have a NO GO to track user data outside the privacy terms of BeGlam. We have strict terms and conditions to adhere to - and, of course, Kingasland legal rules.

However, we should celebrate!!! WE'VE HIT the 1 BILLION MARK! We should celebrate with all the senior crew at Mawaii!

Hi K,

I'm glad to hear that business has been going well with WeSell. The D$ 1 billion in revenue is a great milestone and I'm confident we can continue to grow and be successful together.

We must celebrate! I've just reserved a boutique hotel at Mawaii for all the crew.

We can discuss privacy and user data issues there. :)

Best,

J. Ma

Subject: [URGENT] Revenue sharing.

Hey J,

I'm starting to have some concerns about the partnership. Specifically, I think the 50/50 profit split is too much to pay to AliSell-a. WeSell wouldn't exist without BeGlam and I think it's only fair that we receive a larger share of the profits.

After all, the coding was the hardest part - and has already been paid for.

What do you think about revisiting the profit split and considering a 70/30 split in favor of BeGlam?

Best,

K. Karmash

Hi K,

I understand your concerns, but I think the 50/50 profit split is fair given the value that both BeGlam and AliSell-a are bringing to the partnership. We agreed to this split when we started the partnership and I think it's important to honor our commitment.

Best,

J. Ma

Hello J,

I understand your position, but I still think the 50/50 profit split is too much to pay to AliSell-a.
