

THE FOWLER CLARK EPSTEIN URBAN FARM

...reviving the story and uses of a historic Boston farmstead.

PROCESS | visioning

OUTCOMES | building the farm

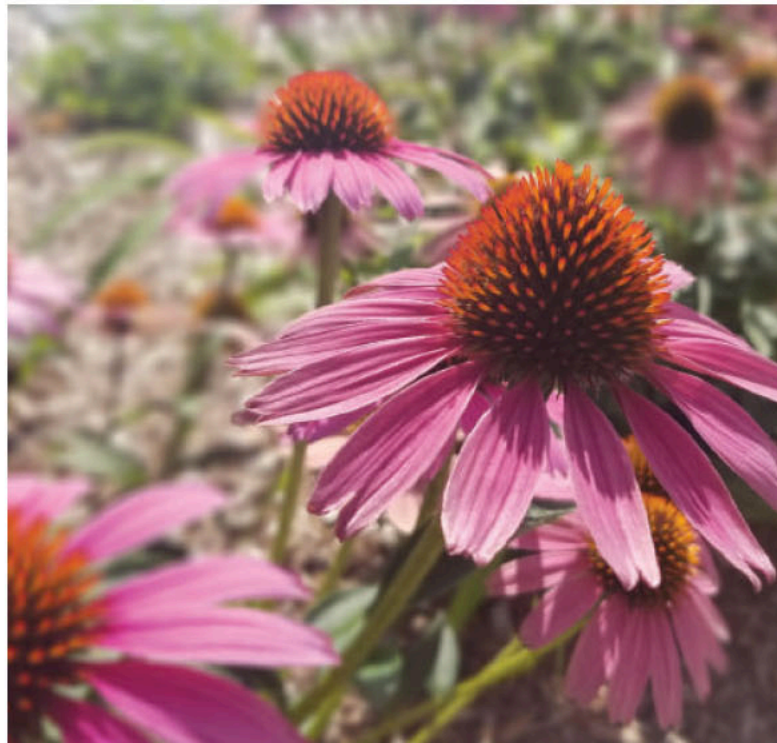

The team assembled for this project numbered in the dozens and provided the opportunity to work across race and class, while fostering mentor/mentee relationships. The nested design requirements fostered a highly-collaborative environment. The knowledge gained by all professions - from designers to farmers to advocacy organizations to engineers - was impressive, and will surely be applicable as urban farm projects proliferate throughout Boston and surrounding communities.

Illustrative drawings aided in fundraising efforts, and helped to further convey the visual and activity changes in store for the farmstead.

IMPACT | transformation

A place that once signaled neglect and abandonment now teems with life and purpose.

Scenes from the the Farm's first season. Community events, farm training, successful harvests, and thriving pollinator-attracting plants.
