Please describe your personal and professional experience with nonprofit organizations

Nonprofit and community service organizations have been part of my life since I was young. When I was 13, I started a community garden in Jay to grow fresh produce for our local food pantry. Fifteen years later, that garden is still serving our community.

Today, I volunteer with SeniorsPlus delivering Meals on Wheels to older residents in our area. That experience has shown me firsthand that nonprofits often provide far more than a single service. A meal delivery can also provide a friendly face, a check-in, and an opportunity for an older neighbor to remain independent and connected to their community.

I also volunteer with our local food pantry and am involved with the VFW and American Legion Auxiliaries. These experiences have given me a deep appreciation for the nonprofit organizations and volunteers who quietly fill gaps, bring people together, and make life better in our rural communities.

Please describe your top three policy goals.

My top three policy goals are lowering the cost of living, creating good-paying jobs, and strengthening essential services in our rural communities. I want to reduce the burden of property taxes, particularly for working families and seniors; support economic development that brings quality jobs back to communities like ours; and make sure rural Mainers can access health care, elder care, childcare, education, public safety, and other essential services close to home. These priorities are interconnected: strong communities require both a healthy local economy and the services that allow people to live, work, raise families, and age with dignity.

Please provide specific ways in which, if elected, you would partner with the nonprofit sector to achieve the goals of your campaign.

If elected, I would treat nonprofit organizations as partners in both policymaking and service delivery. Organizations working directly with seniors, veterans, families, people with disabilities, and people experiencing food or housing insecurity often see problems before they appear in government statistics. I would regularly seek their input when developing legislation and evaluating how state programs are working on the ground.

I would also work to make state partnerships with nonprofits more sustainable. That includes examining reimbursement rates for organizations providing essential services, reducing unnecessary administrative burdens, improving access to state grants and programs for smaller rural organizations, and ensuring that state funding reflects the actual cost of delivering services. My goal would be to maintain an open line of communication with the nonprofit organizations serving our district and bring their experiences and ideas with me to Augusta.
