

For the past 21 years, Nancy McKeague has been an invaluable leader for the MHA. When the MHA suffered a catastrophic roof collapse at the old MHA headquarters on the west side of Lansing, she was instrumental in guiding us through the weeks and years that followed, ensuring that our staff was able to continue working productively on behalf of our members during a time we affectionately termed “Camp MHA,” and helping us to acquire, renovate, and expand the current MHA headquarters in Okemos.

Similarly, during the COVID-19 pandemic, when many other organizations were laying off staff and struggling to maintain effective operations, Nancy helped ensure that our entire team was protected and able to continue meeting the needs of our members and clients at their time of greatest need.

Under her leadership, MHA earned recognition from Modern Healthcare as one of the Best Places to Work in Healthcare in America, reflecting a strong culture, best-in-class benefits, and flexible work environments. She has consistently helped ensure that MHA can recruit and retain outstanding talent, serving as a mentor to numerous employees and members over the years. Her wisdom has been invaluable not only concerning our internal operations, but also to our external work in the realm of state and federal advocacy on labor and workforce issues, as well as our unemployment compensation efforts. I can assure you that our MHA Executive Committee, Compensation Committee, and Board of Trustees regard her as a highly competent and trusted advisor, whose credibility has greatly benefited us on numerous significant issues and decisions over the years.

Please join me in thanking Nancy for her years of dedicated service to MHA and Michigan healthcare and wishing her all the very best in retirement!
