

My name is Megan and I was diagnosed with DCIS at 43 in January 2014.

In December 2013, I had my first MRI on the advice of the radiologist due to dense breasts and strong family history. We are a family of five girls, three of which have been touched with breast cancer.

I hope something can be learned by sharing our stories.

#40andEmpowered