

TECHNOLOGY for CANCER SUPPORTIVE CARE

Free NIH-Sponsored Technology Training for Cancer Clinicians

Empowering Oncologists, Psychiatrists, Psychologists, Pharmacists, Advanced Practice Providers, Nurses, and Social Workers to Enhance Patient Care with Technology

Why attend?

- Get in-person hands-on experience using digital apps, common wearable devices, and other tools to extend your clinical interventions with patients
- Address the top concerns of cancer patients: fatigue, insomnia, anxiety and depression, and pain
- Improve patient adherence and overall outcomes
- Continuing education credits offered

Visit Our Website to Learn More and Register Now!

October 2026

Washington, D.C.

Thurs. 10/1/2026

through

Sat. 10/3/26

<https://tech4cancersupportivecare.com/>

Hosted at the new National Geographic Museum!

Visit the the newly opening Museum of Exploration's website here

The Technology for Cancer Supportive Care Training is fully funded by the National Cancer Institute (NCI) of the National Institutes of Health (NIH) under the award number (R25CA285225) to support training and development opportunities without any associated fees for participants. All instructors, speakers, and organizers involved in this program have disclosed any financial or other relevant interests, and potential conflicts of interest have been reviewed and managed according to NCI and institutional guidelines. Participation in this program will involve no additional charges, and there are no commercial interests involved.